

Rotary Club of Inverness distributes proceeds From the inaugural Bass Blasters Fishing Tournament

Inverness Pioneer, Thursday, October 10, 2013 A3

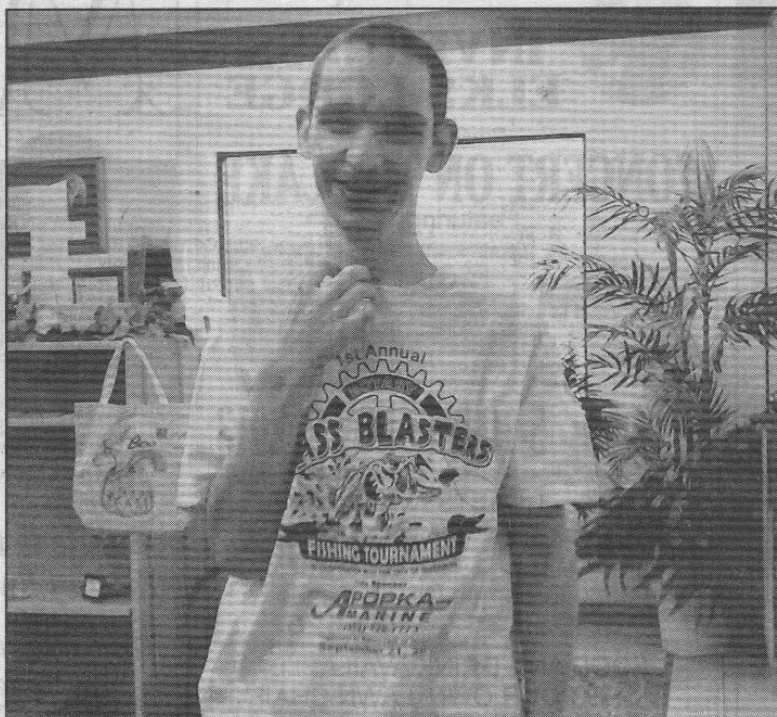

The Neighborhood Scene

Special to the Pioneer

Key Training center received a check for $1,458.55 from the inaugural Bass Blasters Fishing Tournament that took place Sept. 21 at Liberty Park in Inverness. A similar amount will go to other Rotary Club charities. With the success of the event, the Rotary Club of Inverness intends to hold one every year and grow it to where it will produce significantly more profits to help Key Training Center fulfill its mission. Pictured during the check presentation, from left, are tournament fundraising and marketing chairman Rotarian Doug Lobel, Key Training Center Foundation Director Neale Brennan Tournament Committee chairman Rotarian Charlie Wade and tournament director Rotarian Eric Williams.

Send photos for publication in the Inverness Pioneer to pioneer@chronicleonline.com

Josh Hill shows off his Bass Blasters T-shirt, a personal souvenir from the recent event sponsored by the Rotary Club of Inverness to benefit local charities, including the Key Training Center. Fifty leftover T-shirts were donated to the clients at the Key Training Center to wear; a new logo design is being created by graphic artist Tom Rogers of Blue Heron Tees.

Special to the Pioneer