

Clerk of the Court Explains Her Office's Services

That was certainly the case when Mrs. Strifler visited the Rotary Club of Inverness in May. She reviewed the many services the Clerk's office offers, both in person and online. She has been able to use technology and other measures to control costs; her office has been an example to others across the state, and has received numerous awards.
